Honoring Personhood

March 13, 2014

We each deserve the opportunity for a good life that offers meaning and support of who we are. Every day. Learn interactive skills that reinforce each individual's sense of self. This session will grow your abilities to work as team and truly make a difference every day.

Food for Thought:

The Deep Seated Issue of Choice

April 23, 2014

This workshop focuses on resident-directed dining, bringing the principles and practices of the New Dining Best Practice Standards to your organization in an experiential and practical manner. Whether in households or neighborhoods, it will spark new energy in your teams and generate an excitement about resident-directed life. Learn practical ways to maximize autonomy and individualization in dining by honoring residents' food and beverage preferences through cost effective choice and accessibility.

Nursing and Home: Integrating Quality Care with Life

May 15, 2014

You understand that making our own decisions is an essential element of a satisfying life, but how can this work in your facility? This workshop was designed for nurses who believe that LTC residents should be able to continue to direct their own lives while living in a nursing home. Learn how to successfully change nursing systems such as medication administration and bathing to a resident-directed model, and discover how these changes will benefit not only residents, but also those providing care.
